

IF NOT NOW, WHEN?

The 4th annual Tables for 4, Food for Thought took place at the Dan Bohan Family Centre on January 20th, 2011. Paul Toner spent the evening once again guiding us in conversations about our faith with 3 table companions as we shared a meal together. This year's theme, If not now when? led to such questions as: Do we really think God answers our prayers and if so, how come it doesn't always feel that way? What are the things I can do now, with what I have, to make a difference in the world? What makes me happy? As Paul shared his stories and songs with us, and we munched down, the responses we made to these questions were aided by some 'pearls of wisdom' from others, found at the tables. There are no wrong answers to these questions, and sometimes, no answers at all. What we have discovered, however, is that there is value to asking the questions, and pondering what they mean for us, today. They are, after all, just food for thought.
